MATS Celebrated International Women's Day among rehabilitated women's

School of Information Technology, MATS University always believes in helping, caring and supporting almost all human beings regardless of their religion, caste and believes, to meet the continuity and to add one more page in its collection of social welfare activity, As its regular practice Department of School of Information Technology along with all their staff and good team of volunteers belonging to graduate and postgraduate courses participated and reached Mahila Punarvisthapit Grih, Kramank 1 MANA Camp, Raipur for devotinglove showering care and asking the wellbeing of most respected personality, right from the origin of Indian civilization "The Women".

The Guest of the occasion Shri GajrajPagariya (Chancellor, MATS University), Shri Byju John(Vice Chancellor, MATS University), Mr. Gokulnanda Panda (Registrar, MATS University),Chief guest of the program Smt. Ramshila Sahu (Cabinet Minister, State Women and Child Development), Guest of Honor Shri Shyama Prasad Chakraborty (President Nagar Panchayat, MANA Camp.),Shri. M. L. Pandey (Additional Director, Social Welfare),Mr. Pankaj Verma (Duputy Director, Social Welfare) and toMr. Kishore Chandra Jain (Social Worker), are welcomed by Ms Rita Dewanjee, Head of the department, MSIT, Faculty members and students.

In the Inaugural Speech of the program Shri GajrajPagariya Ji (Chancellor, MATS University)spoke to the audience with a mesmerizing message and said that "Indian Tradition considers women as equal as god, they are respected, honored and even worshipped in every corner of the country right from the origin of civilization in the country". He said that due to the toxic thoughts carried out by certain group of antisocial elements, falsely branded women as so helpless and weak, he also openly announced that such a noble activity, bearing such a beautiful social cause will always be promoted and appreciated.

Chief Guest Mrs. RamshilaSahu(Cabinet Minister, State Women and Child Development) talked about the importance of women in the society which has already been admitted by the ancient peoples and written in Veda's and its Sutras. She said that women are doing well in all directions, standing equally to men and taking the growth of the country to the new heights. She also put some light on the schemesrun by the government for the wellbeing and reformation of the women that includes One Stop Center Scheme, SablaYojna, Kishori Shakti Yojna and UjjwalaYojna.

MATS School of Information Technology devoted a day with staff and Students at the Venue celebrating the program by handling over the Mosquito Net, Mat and Food items as a token of love to more than 100 Women at the Ashram.

Department Head Ms Rita Dewanjee conveyed vote of thanks to all the eminent guest and to the students who taken effort to conduct such a lesson making program in such a beautifulway with the only intention of love,care and share.